- The only career retrospective to combine the biggest hits of Piano Red and his alter-ego, Dr. Feelgood.
- His irresistibly cheerful songs inspired Little Richard, Aretha Franklin and a host of rockabilies including Carl Perkins.
- Five tracks are released here for the first time ever.
- "Everyone should have at least one Piano Red CD" (Trevor Cajiao, Now Dig This) and this is the best.

INFORMATION

The boisterous barrelhouse blues of Willie Perryman were a guaranteed good time no matter which name the Atlanta 88s ace recorded under. After scoring five pounding R&B hits in 1950-1951 for RCA Victor as Piano Red (including the piledriving Rockin' With Red and Right String But The Wrong Yo Yo) and cutting a slew of additional rockers for the firm that stretched into 1958, Red signed with Columbia's Okeh subsidiary, he switched his moniker to Dr. Feelgood and The Interns and nailed a big hit in '62 with his irresistible Doctor Feel-Good.

Bear Family's exhaustive four-CD boxed set 'The Doctor's In!' remains the ultimate Piano Red/Dr. Feelgood collection, but this disc boasts a lot of its high points – Red's Victor hits and a generous array of other Victor standouts (including the blistering instrumental Wild Fire), the best of his late '50s sides for Checker and Jax, and five previously unreleased Okeh and Columbia sides from 1962 and '66 that were presumed lost when the box was compiled.
