KEY SELLING POINTS

- The recent death of Atlantic Records founder Ahmet Ertegun has focused attention on his incredible achievement in making Atlantic the greatest independent label ever.
- Atlantic's Fifties rockabilly/rock'n'roll recordings have never been properly documented until now!
- Includes the original versions of Judy (popularized by Elvis) and Rave On (later popularized by Buddy Holly), as well as incredibly rare early recordings by David Gates, founder of the 1970s soft rock band, Bread. Plus Bill Haley's Comets.
- Bear Family's 'That'll Flat Git It' has been running for 15 years, and is getting better and better!

SALES NOTES

Atlantic Records is one of the great labels in American popular music. From classic R&B singers like Joe Turner, LaVern Baker, and The Drifters to soul stars like Aretha Franklin, Wilson Pickett, and Solomon Burke, and classic rock artists like the Rolling Stones, Yes, Led Zeppelin, and many others, Atlantic has been at the forefront of popular music since its inception in 1948. As an early sixtieth birthday present, we're reissuing 29 recordings that Atlantic probably forgot they ever made! It's the one side of the label's long story that has never been told: the attempt to score rock hits during the late 1950s that started with a failed attempt to sign Elvis. This collection includes the fabulous original version of a song that Elvis later covered, Judy, as well as the original version of a song that Buddy Holly later recorded, Rave On. Additionally, it features incredibly rare early recordings by David Gates, founder of the 1970s soft rock band, Bread, as well as Bill Haley's Comets, recording as the Kingsmen. Then, as always with 'That'll Flat Git It,' there are the great unknowns, many of whom have their story told here for the first time along with their music being reissued for the first time. Many series run out of steam after just a few volumes, but 'That'll Flat Git It' just keeps getting better and better. We began it in 1992, we now have 25 volumes, and more are in preparation!
